On Criticism:
The Critic's Reply

To the Editor of the
"North-China Daily News"

Sir,—Mr. Dent's comments are disheartening for he has apparently misunderstood the underlying principles of that section of my article to which he objects.

A critic, musical reporter, or whatever you will, is charged with the duty of being sincere and impartial—or as impartial as the conditioning of his musical subconscious will allow. In the case under point, I said that the Choral Society produced some fine singing, indeed that the "Hymn to the Sun" was brilliantly sung, and then proceeded to offer considered and (what I hoped) constructive opinion of why the entire programme could not be similarly praised.

I understand and appreciate Mr. Dent's sentiments towards the display of the "milk of human kindness," but used injudiciously, this quality is inseparable from benevolent evasion of the essentials, which is no doubt largely pleasing but of little practical value. My notes were not intended for those who would wilt at the first signs of well-intentioned criticism. It would not have done justice to the Choral Society to have written them on this supposition.

Mr. Dent would appear to apply the a priori implication of mediocrity ("we are not in London"), which is so often used here. My theories assume no such stigma. Nevertheless, if my notes were the cause of discomfort to members of the Society, I offer my apologies.

C. L. Hindson "H."

Shanghai, Nov. 23.

The Boy Scouts:
A Gratifying Interest

To the Editor of the
"North-China Daily News"

Sir,—With reference to Ex-Scout's letter of November 21 in which he asks where the report concerning Camper's Green Scarves was published, he will find it in the "Commissioner's Outlook" in the November issue of "The Totem," the official organ of the Boy Scouts' Association (Shanghai Branch), but the facts were given by the Commissioner when presenting his report at the annual general meeting.

It is very gratifying to find such interest being taken in the Boy Scout movement here in Shanghai and it is sincerely regretted that Ex-Scout was not present at the annual general meeting when he would have heard full details of the Association's activities during the past year. It is sincerely hoped that he is still a member of the Association even though an Ex-Scout and, if not, I welcome this opportunity of telling him that for the small annual subscription of five dollars he can be a full member and receive a free copy of "The Totem" monthly and so obtain all the latest information on the local movement.

Every Scouter, Scout and Wolf Cub receives a free copy of "The Totem" but this should not absolve parents of boys and others interested from becoming members of the Association and so shewing their interest in this grand movement by sending at least the minimum subscription to the honorary treasurer, Mr. W. J. Hawkings, No. 2 The French Bund.

The interest shewn by Ex-Scout in the local organization is greatly appreciated and it is hoped, by increasing the circulation of the "Totem," the activities of the various Troops and Packs will be more widely read and the interest in the "grand game" stimulated, to the benefit of all concerned.

H. A. Crickmer.
Hon. Badge Secretary,
Boy Scouts Association.

Park Incident:
Complaint of Dangerous Dog

To the Editor of the
"North-China Daily News"

Sir,—This morning I took my usual Sunday morning walk with my master, young missus and my pal, a three months' old puppy. On the way home we took a short cut through the Hungjao Park, which I really feel is my private property, and on turning a corner I saw a large German police dog. Now if there is anything I dislike it is one of these big brutes but I am not afraid of them even though I am only a pointer. My master had me on a strong leash and I would have gone by safely as usual but I must have given a sudden jerk for the leash parted from the collar and I was free. I went up to pay my respects but seeing that he had a muzzle I started to walk on when he suddenly jumped on me and opened his mouth so wide that he snapped his muzzle and buried his teeth just behind my right ear. I could do nothing, but two kind men came along to help and my master was able to get his walking stick in the big dog's mouth and pry it open so that he had to let go. I am all right except for the big hole in the back of my ear but my friend Dr. Phillips will patch that up for me in the morning.

I do not think that a fierce dog like that should be allowed in the park on Sunday morning, especially when he is in charge of a woman who apparently had no idea of how to handle him, gave him too long a leash, and a muzzle that was not strong enough, do you? My master will have to get me a new collar and I hope it will be strong enough to hold me when I am tempted to go too near a police dog again.

From Newchwang: The weather is comparatively mild, but we have had two or three warnings, and one night the thermometer (Fahr) shewed over 20 degrees. At any moment we may have a sneezer, so it is well that vessels are loading as fast as possible. Skating commenced several days ago, but unfortunately the ponds are already getting covered with dust, and the fun will soon be over unless the river should freeze smoothly.

The China Mail says the Scotchmen of Hongkong have determined to celebrate St. Andrew's Eve this year by a public ball, and we think that they are wise in their determination, especially in view of the unqualified success of last year's celebration. We are pleased to say that the Scotchmen of Shanghai have made a similarly wise resolution.

Those Burning Questions

Concepts of Human Progress

From "Nature" (London)

In the first flush of enthusiasm at the recent preservation of peace, it seemed that the crisis through which we had passed had quickened perception of values in the essentials of life, to most of which we had been prepared to bid a long, and perhaps an eternal, farewell. Hope, founded on the promise of the Anglo-German pact, looked forward to the removal of the menace of war to set mankind free for the pursuit without distraction not merely of enjoyment of the advantages which the advancement of scientific knowledge holds out for the future, greater even than the wonders with which it has endowed mankind in the past generation, but also of real and substantial progress, in a healthier atmosphere, in the scientific study and resolution of the problems which lie at the root of world economic and social unrest.

Disillusion has been rapid, complete and painful. The first task to which we are now bidden to turn of necessity and at redoubled speed is armament and provision for defence. So much the more then are energies and resources withdrawn from the advancement of what we had come to realize were the essential needs of future development in human life. The sole palliation is that our aim is the preservation of the freedom of the spirit which alone consorts with the dignity of man.

Let there be no illusions as to the character of the struggle which will be involved in modern warfare. It is a reversion to the methods of savagery. In the scale of development of human society, war has played a useful and, biologically speaking, a necessary part. The society which at a certain stage of development depends upon the prowess of heroes pitted against their like, breeds heroes to ensure qualities essential to its survival in the struggle for existence. But the day of heroes in war is past. Modern war, which will be waged from the air, is the warfare of the primitive head-hunter, in which the raider returns triumphant from his raid after the slaughter indiscriminately of man, woman or child. The principles of warfare are unchanged—"Find the forces of the enemy and destroy them"; but those forces are no longer armed forces; they are the whole people, whose morale must be destroyed. Could any parallel be closer to the head-hunter, who brings back with each head something of the spiritual force of the enemy he has slain?

In the development—evolution in the popular sense—of progressive human societies, the line of advance has been towards ever-increasing aggregations of individuals—from family to tribe and from tribe, through a regular gradation of political units, to empire. If the warlike qualities have played their part in each of these forms of human association in securing that independence of existence which is essential for internal development, there has been an equal and parallel development of those qualities in the individual, which make for just and harmonious association between the members of a social group—the qualities of justice, of capacity for co-operation, of consideration for others, and care for the weak. It is these qualities which give solidarity to the group, and are no less conducive to its survival, than the warlike qualities which preserve it from aggression from outside.

Such social characters are, however, not only the essentials of internal peace and advancement, but also they react on those higher qualities of the human mind, in the exercise of which man approaches most nearly to exhibition of his specifically human characters, unaffected by cultural divergence. These higher manifestations of his spirit, if in origin based upon tradition peculiar to his group, nevertheless in their highest development transcend such limitations. Of such are literature, art and scientific knowledge, which when they attain their highest powers, speak a universal language.

At the same time, with each advance in social gradation the system of social and religious ethics is extended to embrace a wider circle, until in certain of their concepts they, too, approach a universal appeal to mankind at large, rather than a restricted cultural group. No one has ever questioned that in these higher manifestations of the spirit, man attains, and will attain, his highest development, whatever may be his advancement in the field of the material. Further, it is a matter of experience, no less than a postulate of reason, that for their full and complete expansion and growth, free intercourse and exchange of experience and thought are essential, without barriers of race or political frontier to exclude any form of intellectual development as alien. While similarly the ethical system, in the long run, whether it be bound to a specific form of religious belief or not, will come to recognize the claims of ethical concepts common to humanity at large, irrespective of creed.

In the intercourse between national groups, which has become an essential condition of the development of the activities of the higher faculties, civilized man has transcended the group to embrace humanity as a whole. As men bend their minds to the problems which arise in this extended outlook, if advancement is to continue it will demand more and more a scientific approach to these problems, which, however much they may depend upon conditions within the group, are world-wide in application or in effect.

In an increasing degree these problems will arise in connection with the backward, no less than with advanced, peoples. An ever-growing sense of the responsibility of Western civilization to protect 'primitive' races from the more harmful and disintegrating effects of its own impact on their culture and institutions will, by the logic of circumstances, carry conviction that both wisdom and justice demand that this state of tutelage, no longer susceptible of exploitation for national advantage or prestige, should carry with it an obligation to develop in these peoples not only the capacity to deal with the special problems of their own government, but also to co-operate with the white man in the solution of questions of wider import. Events of the last decade, more especially in the economic field, have driven home forcibly the lesson that there are few peoples so remote so self-sufficient—in short, so primitive—as to escape the repercussions of the major crises at the heart of civilization. Pursuit of the material benefits conferred in the spread of Western civilization has led to the assumption all too readily that ultimately Western ways of thought, Western beliefs will set the world standard. In the reaction which is at hand—nay, which has already begun in Africa and in the East—understanding, tolerance, and breadth of view can alone bring about the adjustment which will avert conflict.

Unfortunately, man's political and economic advancement has lagged behind his intellectual and material progress. The League of Nations, which represented an attempt to attain an aggregation transcending the national group, has accomplished much valuable work in the study of problems in which scientific and intellectual co-operation was possible without regard to national grouping. Nevertheless, it has failed in its main object, because in the international sphere its approach to political problems has been upon a national rather than an international basis. If the Anglo-German pact were, in fact, the first step towards a policy of discussion and conciliation, in which discussion proceeded to each specific problem with a scientific outlook and the aim of human, and not national, advancement and, be it added, without the accompaniment of the rattle of arms, we might indeed look for the approach of an era, of which the League of Nations was but the false dawn.

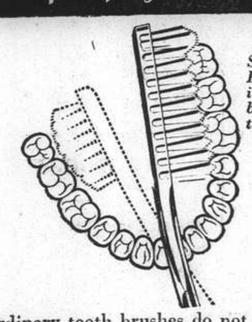
BACK TEETH DECAY FIRST
protect them with a Pro-phy-lac-tic Perma-Grip



Study this diagram—see how the Pro-phy-lac-tic Perma-Grip reaches in and around every part of all the back teeth. Only a brush with a tufted end can do this.

ALWAYS SOLD IN THE YELLOW BOX

● Ordinary tooth brushes do not thoroughly clean the hard-to-get-at back teeth. That is why you should always use a Pro-phy-lac-tic Perma-Grip Tooth Brush.

Its big end-tuft reaches in and around all the teeth—front and back, inside and outside. It cleans them thoroughly, removes every tiny food particle, protects against decay.

Pro-phy-lac-tic Perma-Grip bristles are scientifically spaced and sufficiently flexible to reach in every tiny crevice. Finally, they are sealed in securely, permanently, by the exclusive Perma-Grip method. Always insist upon genuine Pro-phy-lac-tic Perma-Grip Tooth Brushes. Look for the hyphenated name.

THE A.D.C.

"George and Margaret"

Gladys .....Dorothy Hawkings
Malcolm .....Ernest Baker
Alice .....Ruth Arnold-Jones
Dudley .....Berthram Brown
Frankie .....Suzette Arnhold
Claude .....Patrick Geere
Roger .....Ronald Mayne
The New Maid .....Lillian Isenman
The play produced by E. G. Smith-Wright
Scenery and Settings ..J. C. Clavering
Stage Manager and Properties L. G. Shellam
Prompter .....May Pecaric

The A.D.C's choice of "George and Margaret" for their second production attracted a good house to the Lyceum Theatre last night, which roundly applauded a very well performed comedy. The piece itself is very charming in conception and it must be confessed that a particularly able cast was selected to carry it through. Miss Arnhold and Mr. E. C. Baker captured the major honours so far as individual performances were concerned, the former for the very natural quality of her performance, which failed somewhat in the last act through no fault of her own, and the latter because of a very convincing study of an absent-minded old father who, nevertheless has a very shrewd idea of what is going on around him. Both of them deserve the highest praise for their work which was indeed exceptionally well done.

They were closely followed by Miss Hawkings, as the servant who most adequately filled the part allotted to her and Mrs. Arnold-Jones whose very long part as the fussy mother of a difficult family was admirably sustained throughout the whole of the evening. They both played their parts well and fitted excellently into the general picture. Mr. Geere is well known on the local stage for his efficient playing, and the portrayal of the priggish young architect last night was quite one of the best of his performances for some years past. Mr. Brown as Dudley was not quite so fortunate, a certain monotony of delivery detracting from what might otherwise have been a very effective piece of acting in one of the juvenile leads. Mr. Mayne was somewhat less successful, failing at the crucial moment to act up to Miss Arnhold in the last act in a manner calculated to make the performance of both more convincing than it was. Mrs. Isenman filled in the small part of the new maid in a manner of which she alone among the local amateurs is capable.

Mr. E. G. Smith-Wright who has lately been producing in Hongkong clearly demonstrated his undoubted abilities in this direction, and he is obviously someone of whose services the Club could with advantage again avail themselves. Mr. J. C. Clavering was responsible for the scenery and the settings which were effective, though it should be remembered that sunlight at 11.30 a.m. even at Hampstead would throw the image of a French window on to the floor and certainly not on the opposite wall of the room to a point higher than the top of the window itself.

The play is a delightfully simple piece of gay foolery, presenting so heavy problems or requiring any concentrated thought, and as a really pleasant evening's amusement is most warmly to be commended.—R.T.P-G.

THE CINEMA

"Garden of the Moon"

John Quinn .....Pat O'Brien
Toni Blake .....Margaret Lindsay
Don Vincente .....John Payne
Slappy Harris .....Johnnie Davis

Admirers of Mr. Pat O'Brien, and there must be many who rate him among their screen favourites, will not be disappointed with his latest histrionic efforts in "Garden of the Moon" which had its first performances at the Grand Theatre yesterday. In the role of a tremendously zealous impresario of a famous American night club, who has placed the institution on the uppermost pinnacle of fame, Mr. O'Brien imparts to his role such a naturalness that one naturally feels at times that nothing would induce more pleasure than to see him murdered in cold blood, specially during his super-vindictive moods when he treats his employees as if they were plain automatons without souls. And yet in his other moods he is witty, comical and likeable to a certain degree. He improves with every picture. Full of lilting melodies played by world renowned musicians including the great maestro, Joe Venuti, of recording fame, "Garden of the Moon" is skilfully blended into a fine piece of entertainment in which all the cast co-operate to ensure that there are no dull moments. Miss Margaret Lindsay, Mr. John Payne, for whom a Hollywood future has been predicted, Mr. Johnnie Davis, with his "scat" singing, and the well-known Hollywood columnist, Jimmie Fidler render fine support to Mr. O'Brien in a film which possesses all the qualities of pleasing even the most sophisticated of inveterate cinema-goers Preceding the main picture is a fine colour film dealing with life in Holland.—R.S.

"The Affairs of Annabel"

Next at the Grand are Jack Oakie and Lucille Ball.

"Borgia's Daughter"

For their next presentation, to be played on December 1, 3 and 4, at 8.30 p.m., the Russian Light Opera have chosen to interpret O. Krauz's "Borgia's Daughter," which, being considered light and airy, should be well appreciated by local music enthusiasts. This item is being produced for the first time in Shanghai.

In the cast are to be found Bitner, Valin, Kudinoff, Nevskaya, Mouraviev and L. Gaidaroff.

The ballet is under the guidance of Seroff and Manjelei, who also will take part, while A. Sloutsky is to wield the baton.

Geza and Gino

Popular for their sparkling music and ability to please musically in a number of languages, Geza and Gino are the mainstay of entertainment at the Roxy, which is just round the corner. This smart little night club, which has recently opened, caters to Shanghai's international night life population. Quietly decorated in reds, blues and silver, with accompanying light effects, it leaves nothing to be desired for an evening's entertainment.

"Ring Thrushbeard"

There will be no Pantomime for the children this year. The Musical and Dramatic Committee of the British Women's Association have provided compensation in their operetta entitled "Ring Thrushbeard" to be given at the B. W. A. Headquarters on Friday and Saturday, December 2 and 3 at 5.30 p.m. The effort is really an ambitious one with 30 juvenile performers and promises to be a colourful and entertaining show.

Cozy Jessfied Club

For coziness, the Jessfield Club invites competition, the principal features being the cheerful and refined atmosphere, the ability of the musicians to challenge patrons to "stick them" with classical or jazz items and the large fire place. Two dance floors and an intime cocktail bar with a comfortable parlour-like lounge round out cozy premises.

Hollywood Tops World As News Centre

Little Hollywood isn't even a city, but it tops all the world capitals and metropoli as a news centre. Day in and day out the film capital is the greatest news spot in existence, with an average of 250,000 words daily going out from the hundreds of newspaper and magazine correspondents here.

The town and its people occupy more printed space than any other one group in existence. And the reason is easy—"names make news!"

There are more "news names" in Hollywood than any other place in the world, regardless of size. In America, New York and Washington are its only rivals, and they're a weak second. And when it comes to names known the world over, not merely in the United States, the movie capital is in a class by itself.

By conservative estimate there are 200 Hollywoodites whose names are known in every civilized land. Some, like Charlie Chaplin and Harold Lloyd, are even known to natives in the darkest jungles.

Compare Hollywood's 200 world-known names with the capital at Washington. President Roosevelt, Secretary of State Hull, Senator Borah and Justice Hughes are practically the only ones who can qualify for international reputations.

Into the space of a few acres any major Hollywood studio crowds more world names than these. Paramount has 26 acres and inside its walls are Bing Crosby, Jack Benny, John Barrymore, Claudette Colbert, Ronald Colman, Gary Cooper, Bob Burns, Irene Dunne, Cecil B. DeMille, and a dozen more. It takes all of New York to equal this list, and there are six other major studios to add their notables to the Paramount roster.

The Price of Brains

Many hold that the merit of a picture lies less in the star than in the director. This is beginning to be recognized even in Hollywood where Frank Capra and Rouben Mamoulian receive £10,000 or £20,000 each for any picture they make. In France, which now seems to hold the field for the best pictures, the place of the director is almost paramount notwithstanding the wonderful group of actors and actresses who appear in the leading pictures.

René Clair, Duvivier, Jean Renoir and others might almost be considered the bright, particular stars who draw the public. Their names are announced in letters at least as large as those which announce the most famous actor or actress. The pictures they direct demand and receive intelligent appreciation, because they are really pictures seen with the eye of a pictorial artist.

Intelligence and aesthetic refinement go together, so that, although some of the stories of French films are trite and foolish enough, very seldom does one come away from seeing them without feeling that brains have gone to their making and it is pleasant to reflect that the brains have received an adequate reward.

Filming "Rebecca"

Those who have read Miss Daphne du Maurier's enthralling and romantic novel, "Rebecca," will probably have been struck by its filming possibilities. These possibilities have evidently appealed to Mr. David O. Selznick, who has purchased the screen rights and is making arrangements for an early production. The name part will be played by Miss Carole Lombard, but so far the male star has not been engaged although suitable negotiations are in progress.

No director has yet been announced, but it is understood that it will probably be Alfred Hitchcock, who is at present occupied in making a picture on the subject of the Titantic disaster. It is announced that a camera unit is on the way to England to film the right backgrounds for "Rebecca" and if Mr. Hitchcock turns out to be the director he should be very happy in dealing with the English scene supported by all the financial resources of one of the great American producing companies.

Chinese Boxer Students Now Placed

War Delays Allocation To Universities

London, Nov. 23.

After much feverish correspondence, telephone talks and anxious interviews, the twenty Chinese Indemnity scholars, who arrived in England recently, are now allocated to their different colleges.

"One or two are not absolutely fixed," said Mr. H. T. Silcock of the China Institute, on whom falls the duty of placing the students, "but so nearly that I think no hitch will occur.

"For example, Rothamsted, the agricultural branch of London University, was recently burnt down. But London will arrange for the student who wished to go there to be taken in elsewhere, possibly in Wales."

War, of course, has been the cause of all the trouble. The full list of scholars and their subjects, usually received in August, had not arrived when they themselves did. One scholar is still without the papers and theses showing he is qualified for the post-graduate course.

There was the further difficulty that if students were not in residence by a given date, they would not be able to keep the term, for the purpose of taking their degree.

Generally speaking, however, heads of colleges and universities have shown themselves most helpful in overcoming the difficulties due to the scholars' late arrival. Owing to the incessant work involved in placing the students none of the usual receptions in their honour have been held, but it is hoped to arrange one in the Christmas vacation, when the Chinese Institute will be installed in its beautiful new home in Gordon Square.—Reuter.

Interport Bowls Team Honoured

Souvenirs Presented to Members of Victorious Side from Shanghai

A pleasant function was held yesterday evening at the Shanghai Engineers' Club where the Committee of the Shanghai Lawn Bowls Association informally entertained to a cocktail party the victorious Interport Lawn Bowls team who recently returned from Hongkong. In recognition of their success in bringing back the Prentice Cup and as souvenir of the occasion each of the players was presented with a silver cigarette case with an appropriate inscription.

Mr. W. J. Monk, the Association President was in the chair and in a speech prior to the presentations said that he wished to welcome not only the interport players, Messers. H. Wallace, J. W. Brierley, A. M. Gutierrez, W. J. MacDermott and K. L. Swartzell but the Association sub-committees and the other guests. A letter was also read from Mr. E. F. Bateman expressing his regrets at not being able to attend owing to indisposition.

Selection Committee Difficulties

The President outlined the difficulties of all Selection Committees and the criticism to which they were subject but stated that in this case their judgment had been vindicated by results and, although a better and stronger 'paper-side' might have been available it might go on record that the strongest individual players do not necessarily make the best team but that a group who will play and act together are a better combination

Mr. Monk informed those present that he had received a personal letter from Mr. Hyde Lay in Hongkong expressing the pleasure that the Hongkong Lawn Bowls Association had had in entertaining Shanghai, which letter extolled their good sportsmanship.

Merits of Players

The President emphasized the merits of each member of the team on the local greens during the year, special mention being made of Mr. Wallace's successes in winning the Open Singles Championship, The Lawn Bowls Club Singles and, last but not least, being the skip of the

In replying, Mr. Wallace thanked Mr. Monk and those who had sponsored the gathering. He reiterated that their success was due chiefly to the team spirit which had been so much in evidence throughout their visit, to which every member contributed to the fullest extent, which views were confirmed by the other interporters in individual speeches.

The occasion was also taken to wish Mr. T. G. Main, an old Recs's Lawn Bowls player, a very happy retirement as this would probably be the last gathering of Lawn Bowls players before Mr. Main left Shanghai.

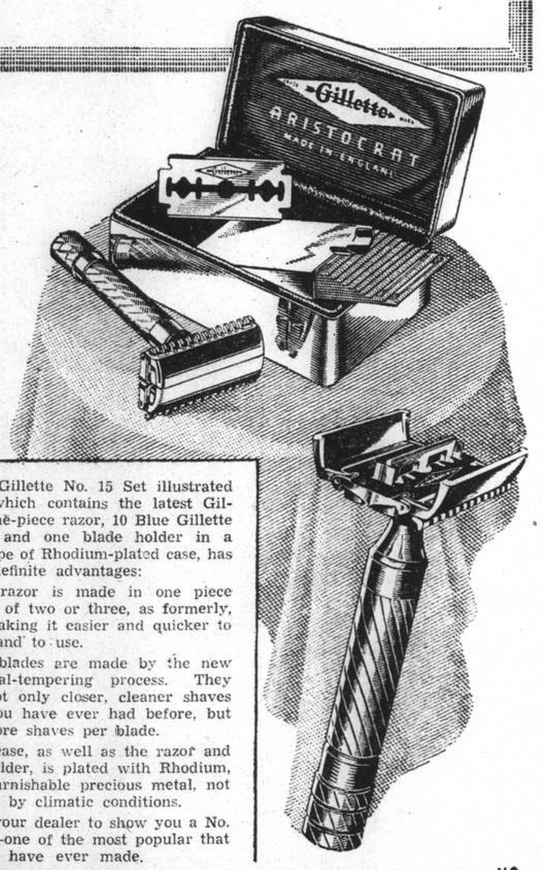
GILLETTE
ARISTOCRAT
No. 15 Set



The Gillette No. 15 Set illustrated here, which contains the latest Gillette one-piece razor, 10 Blue Gillette blades and one blade holder in a new type of Rhodium-plated case, has these definite advantages:

The razor is made in one piece instead of two or three, as formerly, thus making it easier and quicker to clean, and to use.

The blades are made by the new electrical-tempering process. They give not only closer, cleaner shaves than you have ever had before, but also more shaves per blade.

The case, as well as the razor and bladeholder, is plated with Rhodium, an untarnishable precious metal, not affected by climatic conditions.

Ask your dealer to show you a No. 15 Set—one of the most popular that Gillette have ever made.

IMPARTIAL NOT NEUTRAL

THE TRADE OUTLOOK

Mr. Anthony Eden, who at times is positively revealing, has given the House of Commons another of those brilliant glimpses into the obvious in his reference to the position of the western trading nations in China:—"One used to regard China as one of the great expanding markets of the world, but whatever else happened in the Far East there is going to be great impoverishment. They have gone through untold suffering, and when it is over I think the position of western nations will not be better than when it began." The Sino-Japanese hostilities have been responsible for an enormous amount of suffering, so great that its utmost limits may never be known, so lasting that it may be generations before China again reaches the condition which existed at the time of the outbreak of the struggle. The devastation which has been wrought, the trek of millions of Chinese in destitution from their homes where they could manage to eke out a meagre living, the death and misery which has been inflicted upon them, can have no other effect than to administer to the country a setback, the recovery from which will of necessity be slow. That even the Japanese recognize. Hence the grandiose schemes for the speedy rehabilitation of the districts under their control, schemes, which at any rate at the moment give no great signs of any bewildering rapidity. Shanghai and its environs may be taken as an example, for though the Japanese have been in possession for just over a year if anything towards restoration has been attempted, what has been done barely touches the fringes of what is necessary. The establishment of a provisional government at Nanking and a new municipality around Shanghai has progressed little beyond the formation of administrations which have not got into any sort of stride, and give no signs of immediately doing so. A few men who can properly be looked upon as leaders have come forward, but, with all the best intentions in the world, they are hampered by what has been inflicted upon their people, and the poverty which has resulted.

Any who believe that the touch of some magic wand can restore conditions to what they were before last August are bemused in their thinking. The process of rebuilding this portion of China cannot be reasonably expected to be any quicker than the slow restoration which took place after the catastrophe of the Taiping Rebellion. That Japan is anxious to be about speedy rehabilitation may be readily believed. That she will do her utmost to achieve it may also be accepted, and while the plans which have been revealed up to the present are obviously designed for a profitable exploitation of the military successes which have been gained, there is at present little to show that the Japanese are much concerned in any scheme of rehabilitation of the Chinese which does not bring to themselves an immediate return. Indeed Japan is financially unable to undertake all of the huge task of a quick rehabilitation,—even if the Chinese would enthusiastically co-operate, which is by no means sure,—and utterances of their leaders and their newspapers indicate that it is hoped eventually to attract foreign capital to participate in the task. But that is all they want,—foreign financial assistance for a trade to be made as exclusively Japanese as possible. The meaning of Japanese statements in this respect has all along been perfectly obvious. They wish the western Powers to relinquish their trading activities and adopt the role of money lenders, wiping out the very substantial interests which have been created in the past century and providing financial assistance for the policy of the Closed Door. Unless this scheme can be thwarted, Mr. Eden will have been proved to be perfectly correct when he thinks that the position of western nations in China will not be better than when hostilities began. Indeed it will be very demonstrably worse, and the only way of saving what still remains after a year's enthusiastic wrecking is to insist upon the fulfilment of those obligations so clearly set forth in the Nine Power Pact.

Successful insistence upon that essential is of benefit not only to the western nations whose interests are now threatened, but also to the Chinese themselves, who, if Japan is permitted to proceed unhindered with her present plans, will in a very short time be reduced to a state of economic helotry for which it is not easy to find a parallel in history. The eradication of free competition for China's produce, and in the sale of imports would deny the ordinary benefits of commerce, forcing the Chinese producer to accept whatever the monopolistic buyer chooses to pay for his goods, and obliging him to pay inordinately for the imports which Japan would send to this country. It is for reasons such as these that there is every justification for Mr. Cordell Hull to hold that the Japanese reply to the American Note on the subject of the violation of the Open Door policy is unsatisfactory. There is very little likelihood that the further explanations which Tokyo promises to give will contribute anything towards the improvement of the situation, for in the reply itself there is sufficient indication that Japan is rejecting the principles established by the Nine Power Pact upon grounds which will not bear the slightest critical examination. But even if the pressure which the western nations must bring to bear upon Japan in order that she will better and with sincerity appreciate the position succeeds, foreign interests need not expect a very rapid improvement in conditions in China. So much has been destroyed, so much wealth has vanished that the work of rehabilitation may very well prove a slow process. It will be quicker if all nations interested in the China trade are enabled to co-operate upon the old basis of free and open competition permitting the Chinese to buy and sell in the best markets, for it is quite obvious that only by such means as will permit the Chinese quickly to regain and improve upon their former standards of living can there be anything like the re-establishment of that former prosperity upon which the foreign trader so greatly depended.

Triumph and Tragedy

In a world imperfectly balanced in regard to causes and effects the workings of fate continue to remain a factor of inexplicable consequence. In the glitter of triumph there seems always the shadow of tragedy. Mr. Neville Chamberlain, the British Prime Minister, returned from Berchtesgaden, Godesburg and Munich with a guarantee for European peace in his pocket. From the consequences of a former peace treaty which ended a war, circumstances which threatened a greater war had developed and the aged Premier took the initiative to extract from it a formula which tore nations from each other's throats. Since then he has been alternately praised and condemned but there has been no war, and although the situation is extremely complicated it must be said for his intervention that there is no immediate likelihood of war. Now comes fate with its tragic hand. The Lockheed twin-engined aeroplane which flew him to Germany and, incidentally, provided him with his first aerial flight, crashed a few days after the momentous conferences had been concluded. If it had crashed during a flight to Germany the history of the world might have been tremendously changed for he alone possessed those calming and subduing influences which triumphed over war. A telegram from London now brings the sad news that Captain E. G. L. Robinson, the pilot who flew him on these historic flights, has been killed in an aeroplane crash near Bristol when the machine in which he was travelling as passenger burst into flames. It is impossible to regard without a sense of profound regret this sacrifice of a humble instrument which contributed to Mr. Chamberlain's greatness. The air has not been completely conquered yet. Neither has the sea as far as absence of risk is concerned, but in such momentous periods it may not be the divine will but the human wish that the triumph be reflected and a reward bestowed more fitting than being burnt to death in an aeroplane.

A Mediation Canard

The difficulty which some quarters have in accepting the official British denials that attempts are at present being made to mediate between Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek and the Japanese Government is something which is completely incomprehensible. Thus the influential Japanese journal the "Yomiuri Shimbun" has just published a story to the effect that the British Ambassador to Japan had submitted a proposal to the Japanese Premier, Prince Konoye, to that end. The story, carried by the newspaper, and brought to Shanghai by Domei, claims that the Ambassador's proposal contained but four points:—maintenance of the "Open Door" policy, equal treatment of foreigners in China, discontinuance of anti-Japanese agitation and activities in China and the discontinuance of a boycott movement against Japanese merchandise in China. A more ridiculous basis upon which to seek to bring the Chinese and Japanese Governments together could only be conceived in minds completely devoid of political imagination, for no government would seek to put forward such proposals which quite obviously do not meet the realities of the situation. That anyone in his right senses would think for one moment that Japan would be willing to assist in the restoration of peace merely upon such promises by China guaranteed by Great Britain cannot be believed, for it is apparent that in its present frame of mind the demands which the Japanese Government will eventually make upon China will be much more drastic. That is if Japan is in as satisfactory a position in China when peace does come to be discussed as she appears to be at the present moment. The story has been denied in a Reuter message, and on the face of it it would seem that the whole story was evolved in the not very facile minds of the staff of the Japanese journal in question. Actually the whole story seems to have been conceived with the idea of hanging upon it another of the usual attacks upan Great Britain for the alleged supply of munitions of war to the Chinese Government. What so many Japanese fail to understand is that China has just as much right to purchase such goods, and other countries to supply them, as Japan has to buy them in the United States and the latter to permit it being done. These attempts to discriminate between appropriate sauces for the goose and the gander are not very convincing, for the same condiment obviously is appropriate to both.

British Financial Strength

The excellent financial condition of Great Britain is evident from the record of the note circulation during the past few weeks. Even when the international situation was most critical the note issue of the Bank of England increased only by some £26,000,000, and this was more as a precaution by the banks against possible demands than to meet any exceptional currency needs. There was in fact no perceptibly increased demand for notes, and in view of the many unforeseen and increased cash payments which were suddenly required throughout the country the note expansion was extremely moderate. The maximum value of notes in circulation was £505,000,000, but even this was £4,000,000 less than the circulation last Christmas. The moderate extent of the expansion proves the calm of the British public and its confidence in the financial strength of the country; indeed there was not a single instance of any rush to banks to withdraw money. Already something like £10,000,000 has returned from circulation, but in the meantime it is possible that, as the Christmas demand for notes will normally begin in a few weeks' time, the banks may prefer to keep a larger supply of notes than usual. In that case the seasonal requirements for currency, although they are likely to be as large as ever at Christmas time, will not be so obviously reflected in the outflow of notes from the Bank of England in December. But recent circumstances have amply demonstrated both the technical soundness of the British currency position and the confidence of the public in the stability of British financial institutions.

The chauffeur did so, and the speedometer jumped up to around 80. But still the hooting went on.

"You'd better pull up," said the baffled owner.

The big car stopped, and the baby car drew up behind.

"Do you want to pass?" yelled the owner of the front car.

"No," replied the man in the small car. "I just wanted to get my starting-handle out of your luggage-grid!"

Plight of Germany's Jews Now Worse

Ghastly Scenes Described in London Liberal Organ; Lord Baldwin to Speak for Refugees In Broadcast Appeal for Funds

London, Nov. 23.

JEWS in Palestine, assisted by free Jews elsewhere, are prepared to undertake the financial responsibility and organization involved in the immediate absorption into Palestine of 100,000 German Jews.

This statement was made yesterday by the Jewish Agency for Palestine. Bigger schemes, declared the Agency, could be realized if friendly Governments would help by guaranteeing a loan for the purpose.

Commenting on the statement made by Mr. Neville Chamberlain, Prime Minister, in the House of Commons yesterday on German-Jewish refugees, the Rev. Perlzweig, a member of the Executive of the World Jewish Congress and leader of the British section of the movement, says that Mr. Chamberlain put forward a long-term policy which is no answer to the bitterness of immediate need.

The Rev. Perlzweig urges civilized countries to concert together to enable immediate emigration of fairly large numbers of refugees into America and west European countries, even if it is only temporarily.

The only effective and immediate way to aid the refugees, he declares, is to open wide the doors of Palestine.

With regard to British territories in equatorial Africa, the Rev. Perlzweig says that when he discussed proposals of this nature with Gen. Ian Smuts, Minister of Justice of the Union of South Africa, in Capetown a few months ago, Gen. Smuts "dismissed them all summarily as being outside the possibility for practical consideration. The settlement of Jews in anything like considerable numbers in these areas seemed to him impossible."—Reuter.

Jews Reported Tortured

London, Nov. 22.

Under heavy headlines of "An Eye-witness Account of Torture and Killing," the "News-Chronicle" this morning printed what was asserted to be an accurate account of recent happenings in the German concentration camp at Sachsenhausen.

Black Guards, the account stated, had on one occasion taken 62 well-to-do Jews newly arrived from Berlin and forced them to "run the gauntlet" formed by lines of Black Guard members armed with whips, clubs and even spades.

The Jews were forced to run until twelve were dead and the remaining 50 unconscious. The whole affair lasted half an hour.

Describing the scene when no more Jews were left standing the eye-witness declared that some had had their eyes beaten out while spades had battered the faces of others completely flat.

The police escort who had delivered the group of Jews at the concentration camp from Berlin, unable to bear the sight, turned their backs as the Jews were slowly beaten to death.—United Press.

Lord Baldwin to Speak

London, Nov. 22.

Lord Baldwin is to make a broadcast appeal on December 7 in favour of the creation of a "Baldwin Fund" for German Jewish refugees.

He will speak in the name of all the Churches of England, whatever their denomination.

Although Lord Baldwin declared two years ago that he would never again make a political speech, he finally yielded this once to the requests of the churches.

A monster meeting in favour of Jews in also planned for the Albert Hall on December 3, when all British political party leaders and representatives of the British churches will be present.

Government Aid Sought

The Committee of British Israelites entered into contact with the Government today, seeking to organize the immigration into Britain of a few thousand Jewish children in the Reich.

This Committee is ready to make special arrangements for the education of these youngsters and for their distribution among the many homes ready to receive them.

It is estimated that there are some 60,000 Jewish children in Germany today. Several thousands are due to arrive in Britain in the near future, and it is held probable that these youngsters will have to stay at least a short while in camps before they can be "placed" in homes.—Havas.

Nazi Reich Seeks French Accord

Paris-Berlin Relations Appear Better Than Those With Britain

London, Nov. 22.

For the first time since British and French statesmen discuss their relations with Germany, France appears to have better relations with the Reich than Britain, politicians here pointed out today.

They stress the heartiness of Reichsfuehrer Adolf Hitler's reply to the brief address made by Mr. Robert Coulondre, new French Ambassador, when he presented his credentials this morning.

They emphasize Herr Hitler's declarations are to be regarded as most important because they contained an assurance that Germany would respect French frontiers.

This leads British political quarters to believe that an amicable Franco-German declaration, on the lines of the Munich declaration signed by the British Prime Minister, Mr. Neville Chamberlain, and Herr Hitler on September 30, is due in the very near future.

The same circles at the same time claim that Germany nearly recalled her Ambassador from London yesterday following the House of Commons' lengthy debate upon the German Jewish refugee question.

The Reich's Press is now especially irate over Britain's attitude towards the Jewish problem.

Competent quarters declare, however, that Mr. Chamberlain is still intent on pursuing his Munich policy and that the Fuehrer is bound to understand Great Britain's attitude towards the Jews as "only humanitarian."—Havas.

German Envoy at Quai D'Orsay

Paris, Nov. 23.

A new conference between the German Ambassador in Paris, Count Hans von Welczeck, and the French Foreign Minister, M. Georges Bonnet, took place yesterday.

Although it is stated that the discussion was confined to current events, political circles believe the possibility of a Franco-German declaration was also discussed.

Quai d'Orsay circles express a high degree of gratification over the cordial reception accorded the new French Ambassador, M. Robert Coulondre, by the German Chancellor when presenting credentials yesterday morning.—Trans-Ocean.

Von Ribbentrop Paris Visit

Paris, Nov. 22.

Reports that Herr Joachim von Ribbentrop, German Foreign Minister, would visit Paris early in December were widely circulated here today. Dr. Dieckhoff also told the press that he did not know when he was leaving for Germany or when he would return.

However, it is expected that the Ambassador will sail on the Europa on Friday.—Reuter.

Canada Tries to Offer Home for Jews

Ottawa, Nov. 22.

The Canadian Government are at present studying thousands of demands for immigration papers made by Jews the greater number of whom do not even possess that small capital demanded by Canadian laws of intending farmer emigrants.

The Kitchener German-Canadian Society of Toronto today openly advocated a boycott of German goods so long as the Reich's Government persisted in its "inhumanity and foolishness."—Havas.

Belgian Leaders Voice Indignation

Brussels, Nov. 22.

Burgomaster Max, Mayor of Brussels, protested in the Chamber today against the "treatment inflicted upon German Jews, which humiliates humanity and takes it back a few hundred years."

He spoke for the Liberals and his declaration was supported by the Catholic leader and by M. Vandervelde, Socialist leader. The three then tabled a motion expressing the Chamber's confidence in the Government's part in the organization of an international conference to solve the Jewish refugee problem.—Havas.

Danzig Will Adopt Nuremberg Laws

Warsaw, Nov. 22.

Germany's anti-Semitic laws will be applied in the Free City of Danzig as from tomorrow, it was stated in well-informed quarters here tonight. M. Burckhardt, League of Nations' High Commissioner in Danzig, is now planning trips in the very near future to Berlin, Rome, Paris and London.—Havas.

U.S. Embargo On Japan May Be Set Up

Neutrality Law May Be Greatly Revised

Washington, Nov. 22.

A revision of the U.S. neutrality policy was indicated here today in the opinion of political observers who called attention to widespread activity in official and private circles directly concerned.

It was believed that a revision of the basic U.S. Neutrality Act will be sought during the next session of Congress.

Developments included the disclosure today that Senator Key Pittman, Chairman of the Senate's Foreign Relations Committee, would soon arrive in Washington to correlate the individual studies of the neutrality question which many members of the Foreign Relations Committee have made since the adjournment of Congress.

The Department of State recently made public the text of the third successive trade agreement with a special provision in the form of an "escape clause" relating to future applications of the Neutrality Act.

The recent trade treaties with Canada and Great Britain likewise unexpectedly contained similar clauses which allowed the United States liberty to enforce whatever trade restriction proved necessary in line with the U.S. neutrality programme.

Japan's Note Brings Reaction

A third development which was regarded as of extreme significance was Mr. Cordell Hull's comment today on Japan's reply to the American "Open Door" representations in which he characterized the reply as being not responsible and not satisfactory. Since the original American demand carried an implied threat of retaliation, some authorities here saw in the Secretary of State's comment a possible forerunner of the application of embargoes against Japan. Such would be applied under the punitive tariff provisions of the Neutrality Act.

It was also learned that a large number of women's organizations, civic bodies and peace organizations are arranging for a joint conference to be held before the opening of Congress when joint resolutions will be passed recommending alterations of the Neutrality Act.

Senator Nye's Changed Views

Regarded as of more direct importance was the statement recently made by Senator Gerald P. Nye, one of the original sponsors of the Neutrality Act. Senator Nye in his statement advocated that the Government lift the embargo imposed upon the shipment of arms to Republican Spain under the Neutrality Act, and that it find means for the mandatory application of the law against Japan.

Further evidence of probable Congressional attention to the neutrality problem was seen in an announcement made by Mr. Sam D. Reynolds, Chairman of the House of Representatives Foreign Affairs Committee, in which he said that the Foreign Affairs Committee would thoroughly discuss the subject of neutrality during the next session of Congress "in the light of changed world conditions."—United Press.

Abolition of Act Sought

Washington, Nov. 22.

The Fifth Congress of the American League for Peace and Democracy is to open here on January 6, 1939, when it will demand the abolition of the Neutrality Act and the institution of a programme for the defence of peace and democracy.—Havas.

Two U.S. Youths Fly Out for Junk Trip

Halliburton Adventure to "Cure Sea-Sickness"

Manila, Nov. 23.

Two American youths arrived here today on the Philippine Clipper en route to Hongkong where they will join the crew of Mr. Richard Halliburton and sail to San Francisco on his junk.

The young Americans are Mr. John Potter, 24-year-old graduate of Dartmouth University and a resident of New York, and Mr. Robert Chase, 22-year-old youth from Milton, Mass. Mr. Chase also graduated from Dartmouth last June.

They will form part of the crew which is to sail Mr. Halliburton's junk across the Pacific in effort to arrive at San Francisco in time for the opening of the World's Fair there early next year. Mr. Halliburton is a well-known author of adventure stories.

Mr. Potter said that he was undertaking the trip on the junk to "get the wanderlust out of my system." His companion revealed that he had always been subject to sea-sickness and that doctors had advised him that a long sea trip might cure him.

"I either will get over it or become so used to sea-sickness that it will not make any difference," Mr. Chase said. He also said that his father had offered to wager him US$10 for every day that he was not sea-sick, but he turned down the bet.—United Press.

Herr Von Rath and His Jewish Assassin

These are the first pictures to arrive in Shanghai of the principal figures in a situation which has resulted in the widespread anti-Semitic action in Germany. Left to right are: Herr Von Hoesh, former German Ambassador to Paris with the late Herr Ernst von Rath, Third Secretary of the German Embassy, who was shot and killed by the young Jew, Herschel Seibel Grynsztan, aged 17, shown on the right after his arrest by the Paris police.

Japanese Consolidate Gains In Kwangtung Province

Troops Nearing Tsingyun; Chinese Claim Drive Towards Changsha Checked by Counter-pressure

Canton, Nov. 23.

MOVING to extend their zone of occupation in Kwangtung, Japanese troops today were nearing Tsingyun, a strategic city on the north bank of the North River, 70 kilometres north-west of Canton.

Launching their drive from Fahsien, east of the Canton-Hankow Railway, the Japanese successfully broke through a defensive cordon of 4,000 Chinese at a point eight kilometres north-west of Fahsien at 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon, field dispatches reaching here today said.

In this bitter engagement, which was reported to have lasted several hours, the Chinese lost 600 dead as well as large quantities of arms which were left strewn about on the field of battle, the dispatches said.—Domei.

Chungking, Nov. 23.

With the Japanese forces remaining inactive in the Yangtze Valley, the Chinese are at present exerting pressure on Japanese positions on both the north and south banks of the Yangtze according to Chinese military despatches received here.

It is claimed that the Chinese forces north-west of Hankow, "after capturing Tsaoshih, south-east of Chingshan, are at present pushing eastward in the direction of Hanchuan, while those on the Peiping-Hankow Railway are harassing the Japanese in the vicinity of Sinyang, Loshan and Huangchuan."

It is also claimed that the Chinese column which occupied Tsungyang is at present harassing the Japanese near Tungshan and Puchi, and that Chinese mobile units are attacking Shanpo and Hoshengchiao, on the railway north of Hsienning.

The Japanese defence line in South China, Chinese reports state, takes the shape of a semi-circular front which extends from Shakoling station, on the Canton-Kowloon Railway, east of Canton, through Shaho and Paiyunghan, north-west of the city, to Chiangtsun station, on the Canton-Hankow Railway north of Canton.

The Japanese, after the occupation of Bocca Tigris and Taiping, are said to be pushing northward towards Tungwan, south-west of Sheklung, on the Canton-Kowloon Railway.

Chinese forces on the West River are reported to be advancing on Samshui in two columns, with the main body pushing towards Samshui from Mafan, where a severe artillery duel is said to be going on at present, and another column moving from Mumien in an attempt to exert pressure on the Japanese right flank.

Meanwhile, the Japanese at Samshui are stated to be employing a flanking movement and trying to push northwestward from Kwanyao, east of Samshui, towards Lupao, north of Samshui, via Sanchiang, where fighting is at present in progress.—Reuter.

Another Raid on Sian

A Japanese Air Base, Nov. 23.

In the fiercest aerial attack upon Sian, the capital of Shensi, three Japanese army flying units today subjected military establishments in the city to an intensive bombing.

Attacked were the Sian branch headquarters of the Communist Eighth Route Army, the branch military academy, the Seventh Division and Fourteenth Division Headquarters, a military clothing depot and other military structures.

The Japanese raiders made their appearance over the south wall of the Shensi capital at 10 o'clock. They were subjected to an intensive anti-aircraft fire.

Heavy losses were also inflicted by the Japanese bombers upon two Chinese Communist divisions encamped near Sian, according to the fliers' reports.—Domei.

Godowns Destroyed

Raiding Fokang, a city east of the Canton-Hankow railway southeast of Yingtak, Japanese naval aircraft on Tuesday demolished three godowns, a Japanese naval spokesman claimed in Shanghai yesterday.

About 50 Chinese soldiers, who were quartered in the bombed structures, were machine-gunned as they fled from the godowns, he added.

Mr. Neville Chamberlain, the Prime Minister, Mrs. Chamberlain, Viscount Halifax, the Secretary of State for Foreign Affairs, Viscountess Halifax, Sir Alexander Cadogan, Deputy Under-Secretary of State for Foreign Affairs, and other officials of the Foreign Office left Victoria station for Paris today.

The special train, for Portsmouth, bearing the body of Queen Maud of Norway, had left the station an hour before, following simple last rites at Marlborough House chapel, St. James's Place.

A north-westerly gale was blowing in the Straits of Dover and tremendous seas were rolling in the Channel, along the south-east coast.—Reuter.

France Waits to Welcome

Paris, Nov. 23.

A warm welcome awaits Mr. Neville Chamberlain, the British Prime Minister, and Viscount Halifax, the Secretary of State for Foreign Affairs, who were to arrive here this afternoon for important Anglo-French talks, which are to begin at the Quai d'Orsay tomorrow morning.

There was a dramatic incident at a meeting of the Finance Committee of the Chamber of Deputies last night, when M. Edouard Daladier, the Premier, threatened to postpone the visit of the British statesmen should the Committee not pass a virtual vote of confidence in the Government.

M. Daladier secured the vote.—Reuter.

Belligerent Rights

Paris, Nov. 23.

A wide exchange of views on the international situation took place in a meeting between the Foreign Affairs Commission and the Chamber here last night, on the eve of the arrival of Mr. Neville Chamberlain, British Prime Minister, in Paris.

It was considered that the granting of belligerent rights to Spain should be subordinated to the loyal application of the non-intervention agreement, both in regard to the relative proportions of volunteers repatriated and methods of control.

A communique issued after the meeting urged an international solution to the refugee problem.—Reuter.

Latin America May Offer Bases for United States Defence Forces

Vital Supplies of Raw Materials May Be Pledged; New Policy Aims to Put Teeth in Monroe Doctrine

Washington, Nov. 22.

Provision of air, military and naval bases for the armed forces of the United States is expected to be the chief contribution of Central and South American countries to President Franklin D. Roosevelt's continental defence scheme, in the view of well-informed Government officials interviewed here today.

Another contribution which the Latin American countries may be expected to make is to guarantee the United States access to certain highly important raw materials in the event of war. Rubber from Brazil and copper and nitrates from the Andes Mountains are of particular strategic value in war.

These officials said that it was generally recognized the Western Hemishpere must depend largely upon the armed forces of the United States for actual defence. The rapidly improving defence forces of many South American countries, however, were not overlooked. Brazil is said to have a total of 300 serviceable fighting planes.

All definite developments over the President's policy of continental solidarity must await the Pan-American Conference which is to open in Lima, Peru, on December 9.

Officials in Washington were convinced that no written military alliance would result from the Lima conference.

One high official said the United States merely aimed "to put teeth into the Monroe Doctrine." He said he believed the rise of Fascists to prestige and power in Europe and international repercussions had served to dissolve much Latin American opposition to the Monroe Doctrine. United Press.

How Jews May Pay Murder Fine

Berlin, Nov. 23.

A decree in the Law Gazette today stipulates that the milliard marks (£83,000,000) fine, which has been imposed on German Jewry for the recent murder of the German diplomat, Herr Ernst von Rath, is to be collected by a 20 per cent. levy on capital in possession of German Jews and Jews without nationality, living in Germany. The fine is payable in four instalments.

Jews of foreign nationality are not affected by the levy, which is based on assessment of the property of Jews, ordered by a decree on April 26, 1938. Other Jews not affected are those whose property, after deducting all their debts, does not exceed 5,000 marks.

Claims of the Jews against insurance companies, for damage done to their property during the recent disorders will be impounded as part payment of the levy, according to the German News Agency, and any amount in excess of the levy will be forfeit to the State.—Reuter.

Nazi Black Guards Vow Death to Jews

Mass Extermination Threatened; Arrests Continue; New Camps

Berlin, Nov. 22.

The Storm Troop organ, "Das Schwarze Korps," in attacking the Jews today, predicted "physical extermination" if any Jew remains after the final enforcement of the anti-Semitic measures.

Dr. Joseph Goebbels, Minister of Propaganda, in a secret session of Nazi officials at the Kroll Opera House sounded a warning against the growing indignation over Germany's latest anti-Jewish campaign.

"The behaviour of Jewry," he said, "forces us to adopt a radical and swift solution. We shall not relent.... If the English wish the friendship of Germany they ought not to make the friendship dependent on Germany's domestic and political conditions. The German nation no longer tolerates governess-like patronizing."

He also referred to the British suggestions of forming a Jewish colony in Tanganyika.

The evening paper "Nachtausgabe" accused Britain and America of playing Imperialistic politics and attempting to thwart Germany's demands for the return of former German colonies.

"The House of Commons debate," the paper stated, "revealed the real aim is not to settle Jews but to carry out the settlement so as to permit England to use the Jews as a political weapon."

The Berlin press today warned Britain not to use former German colonies to shelter Jewish refugees from Germany.

More Jews Arrested

Concentration camps were swelled by new arrests of Jews and the Aryanization of Jewish businesses was accelerated.

The German press said that the anti-Jewish campaign would soon be introduced in Czechoslovakia where the "Nuremberg Jews" would shortly be adopted.

Three new concentration camps were established by the authorities as wholesale arrests had filled all available camps.

A new camp was established at Marchegg on the German-Slovak frontier. The inmates of this camp were reported to be occupied with irrigation work and river regulation.

A camp for "Jews of the more criminal type" was established at Mauthausen on the upper Danube. The third camp, at Buchenwalde, is reported to be for "undesirable and anti-Social elements."

Vienna reports said that the Nazi authorities at all camps have introduced the racial principles and were separating the Jews from non-Jewish prisoners.—United Press.

War Without Quarter

Vienna, Nov. 22.

The anti-Semitic battle of the Reich must be continued without quarter until it attains the objective designated by Fuehrer Adolf Hitler, Dr. Ley, Chief of the Labour Front, stated today in an address here.

Delivering an anti-Jewish polemic, he described the objective set by Herr Hitler as that situation "when the Pharisees will tell us no more stories of love for the fellow man. My fellow is my blood brother of my own nationality."—Havas.

New Trade Agreement With India

Negotiations in Advanced Stage

London, Nov. 22.

The negotiations for a new trade agreement with India have reached the advanced stage. The whole matter is at the moment under the consideration of the Government of India as a result of their recent discussions with their unofficial advisers.

In giving this information in the House of Commons today, the President of the Board of Trade, Mr. Oliver Stanley, added that he hoped active negotiations would be resumed shortly.—Wireless through Reuter.

British National Register

Plan Completed; Compulsion Ruled Out; Guards Battalions Now Have Full War Establishment

SPECIAL TO THE "N.C.D.N."

London, Nov. 23.

PLANS for a national register and for the organization of voluntary effort for home defence are now learned to be practically complete. It is expected that the plans will come before the Cabinet next week, and that a full statement will subsequently be made in the House of Commons by Sir John Anderson, Lord Privy Seal. Although the Cabinet has yet to decide the form of the register, it is practically certain that the idea of compulsion will be ruled out.

The Secretary of State for War, Mr. Leslie Hore-Belisha, in the House of Commons yesterday, broke the practice of refusing information in cases where corresponding information is not available for foreign countries in order to counter specific allegations in circulation which he thought were calculated to have an unfortunate effect.

After explaining this in reply to a question on the equipment of the Guards battalions, he said:

"I am prepared exceptionally to state that of the ten Guards battalions eight have had a complete issue of their war establishment, both of Bren guns and anti-tank rifles.

Weapon Production

Sir Thomas Inskip, Minister for Co-ordination of Defence, speaking at a dinner here said that "Britons are in great danger of thinking that the whole purpose of their existence and national policy must be the production of weapons of war to defend themselves from aggression.

"That is of course supremely important, but it is even more important that we should use these powers of defence rightly to improve and develop the community, which can enjoy the arts of peace, on which ultimately the happiness of the human race must depend."

Sir Thomas told how he suffers in his office from the conscientiousness of designers, who are continually seeking to produce more nearly perfect weapons.

"When I ask for the earliest possible production of a weapon, I am told that a most ingenious young gentleman has thought of something even better than that already invented.

"One design follows another until the better is enemy of the good, and until some ruthless Philistine puts his foot down and demands production even at the expense of design."—Reuter and Wireless.

British Government Do Not Advise Press

Mr. Chamberlain Denies Suggestion in Commons

London, Nov. 22.

Mr. Geoffrey Mander, Opposition Liberal member for the East division, Wolverhampton, asked the Prime Minister, Mr. Neville Chamberlain, in the House of Commons today if he would state to what extent recently advice had been officially tendered by members of the government to owners of newspapers on the attitude they should take on foreign policy.

Mr. Chamberlain replied: "No such advice has been tendered," and the following dialogue ensued.

Mr. Mander:—"Is it not the case that very recently representations have been made by Members of the Inner Cabinet to owners and editors of newspapers as to the way they should treat foreign affairs and, if it was not done officially, was it done unofficially?"

Mr. Chamberlain:—"I said no such advice was given."

Mr. Mander:—"I am asking if it was not done officially, was it done unofficially."

Mr. Chamberlain:—"Neither officially nor unofficially.—Wireless through Reuter.

West Must Lose in China Market

Mr. Eden Pessimistic Over Outcome of War; Pact With U.S. Hailed

London, Nov. 23.

"One used to regard China as one of the great expanding markets left in the world, but whatever else happened in the Far East there is going to be great impoverishment," declared Mr. Anthony Eden, former British Foreign Secretary, in the House of Commons yesterday in the course of a discussion on the Anglo-American trade agreement.

"They have gone through untold suffering," he added, "and when it is over I think the position of western nations will not be better than when it began."

Mr. Eden described the Anglo-American agreement as by far the most important trade event of the year.

He said it was a step in the right direction, and hoped that others would join in.

"It is all the more important," asserted Mr. Eden, "as our trade has had so many difficulties in other directions."

Answering questions regarding the agreement, Mr. Oliver Stanley, President of the Board of Trade, said the concessions accorded to the United States by Great Britain would be extended equally to all other foreign countries.

The concessions accorded to Great Britain by the United States, he understood, would also be extended equally to other foreign countries with the exception of Germany.—Reuter.

War Debt Question

London, Nov. 22.

A settlement of the war debt question is foreseen by certain financial circles here as the result of the recent Anglo-American Trade Treaty.

The first result to be expected from the treaty will be the break-down of international trade barriers. This is expected to result from third-party nations seeking to benefit from the newly lowered tariff schedules under "most favoured nation" clauses.

This general lowering of high tariff walls throughout the world is believed likely to lead to a general readjustment of international trade and related questions, among which the war debt settlement looms large.—United Press.

German Arms for China Brought Via Burma

Japanese Allegation of British Shipment Denied

London, Nov. 22.

It is not a British but a German steamer that has arrived at Rangoon with 6,000 tons of arms and ammunition for China, authoritative quarters here asserted today.

Original reports about that alleged British arms-transport emanated from Tokyo, where it was declared the ship was bringing its cargo from Odessa, Russia.

Here it is stated that the ship is the Bertram Rickmers which is bound for Mandalay, from where the arms and ammunition are to go to Yunnan via Baho.

The vessel is loaded with powerful explosives of German make, it is declared.

While denying despatches classing the ship as British the same authoritative quarters add, however, that even if the reports are true, it is no matter for concern.

Even though Great Britain does avoid sending arms to China, no private ship-captain can be absolutely forbidden to trade with China, they point out.—Havas.

Optimism Over Japan's Trade Premature

Finance Minister Issues Public Warning

Tokyo, Nov. 23.

Despite recent improvements in Japan's trade balance, optimism regarding the future is still unwarranted, the Finance Minister, Mr. Seihin Ikeda, warned here yesterday.

Speaking at the inaugural meeting of the Japan Trade Council, the Finance Minister, who is concurrently Minister of Commerce and Industry, pointed out that with the exception of her commercial relations with Manchoukuo and North China, which were in her favour, Japan still bought more from abroad than she sold overseas.

Baron Seinosuke Goh, president of the powerful Japan Economic Federation, also heads the new Council, which proposes to work out measures for expanding Japan's overseas commerce.

Mr. Hachiro Arita, the Foreign Minister, and other high Government officials also attended the inaugural meeting held yesterday.—Domei.

Exhausting his meager fuel supply, Grover was forced to land at Kalinin, near Leningrad, and was at once taken into custody.—United Press.

Opening of Pearl River Delayed

Japanese Wish to Tempt Chinese to Return from Hongkong to Canton

Hongkong, Nov. 23.

The ss. Kinshan of the Hongkong-Canton-Macao Steamship Co., will not leave Canton for Hongkong today because of a hitch in the final negotiations with the Japanese naval authorities.

Although the difficulties which caused the postponement of the sailing of the vessel were not revealed, reliable sources said they concerned cargo and passenger questions.

Announcement that the ss. Kinshan would not sail today was made late yesterday evening at Canton by the Japanese authorities.

Arrangements were orginally made with the Japanese authorities under which river boats were to operate between Canton and Hongkong as "gunboats" belonging to the British Navy.

It was hoped that all negotiations would be completed shortly and that the ss. Kinshan would be allowed to sail for Hongkong this week-end.

The Butterfield & Swire ss. Wuchang, which is carrying supplies for Canton's refugees, will sail for Canton from Hongkong today.

Canton observers have reported that the Japanese authorities were making every endeavour to re-open the Pearl River as soon as possible, since it was generally believed that the Japanese have realized that this step was necessary to attract Chinese to Canton and the only method to relieve the city.

The Japanese, it was understood, were planning every encouragement to attract Cantonese residing in Hongkong and Macao. Chinese residents of Canton, however, will only be permitted to travel down river on the condition that they give the most adequate material guarantee that they would return.—United Press.

Britain Taking Action To Protect Interests

Questions on Closure of Yangtze in Commons

London, Nov. 23.

Asked in the House of Commons this afternoon whether the Government considered Japan's reply to the British Note concerning interference with British shipping in the Yangtze as satisfactory, Mr. R. A. Butler, Under-Secretary for Foreign Affairs, said that the matter was under consideration by Lord Halifax, the Foreign Secretary. He added that he was not in a position to make a statement.

In reply to another question, whether he had yet received a satisfactory reply from the Japanese Government in connection with assaults on British subjects in Shanghai, Mr. Butler declared that the British Ambassador in Tokyo was continuing to press for satisfaction on all outstanding cases of importance.

There had been an improvement in relations between the British and Japanese authorities in Shanghai, he said.

Answering a question by Sir John Wardlaw-Milne, Conservative member for the Kidderminster division of Worcestershire, respecting restrictions on British trade in North China, Mr. Butler said that the British Government was aware of the difficulties confronting British interests there, and had taken, and would continue to take, such action as was appropriate to protect those interests.—Reuter.

12,000-Ton Motorship For Shanghai Run

Danish Queen Officiates At Launching of Kina

The port of Shanghai, in the spring, will see the latest addition to the East Asiatic Company's fleet of motor vessels, the 12,000-ton freight and passenger carrier Kina, it was announced here yesterday. The vessel, which was launched at Nakskov Shipyards, Denmark, on November 5 by Her Majesty Queen Alexandrine, will be placed on the Europe-Far Eastern route, it was stated.

Both the King and Queen of Denmark were present at the launching ceremony in the Danish island town. The Queen named the ship "Kina," which is the Danish word for "China." The owners were represented by the senior director, H.R.H. Prince Axel, and several other members of the Board of Directors and Management.

The Kina is a diesel motorship like all other vessels of the East Asiatic Co., which in 1911 introduced in its service the first ocean-going motorship ever built, the m.v. Selandia.

The Kina is 506 feet long, has a 65-foot beam and a deadweight of 12,000 tons. The engine is a Burmeister & Wain diesel motor of 10,400 indicated horsepower, and the loaded speed will be 16 knots. The ship is provided with every modern feature for efficient handling of cargo, and will be equipped with comfortable accommodation for twelve passengers.

The vessel is expected to proceed on her maiden voyage in the beginning of 1939 when she will be placed on the Europe-China-Japan run, and will make Shanghai a regular port of call.

Path Cleared for Eire Republic

Mr. de Valera States Time Inopportune Till Partition is Ended

Dublin, Nov. 23.

There is no legal obstacle to a declaration of an Eirean Republic, stated Mr. Eamon de Valera, Prime Minister of Eire, when addressing the Fianna Fail Convention here yesterday.

His policy, continued the Premier, had cleared away almost all the obstacles that had made it difficult to move towards ending partition and the ground was properly set for getting the whole Irish people throughout the world to work for its ending.

But there was no good in trying to rush matters, added Mr. de Valera, and put themselves in a position in which they would have to retreat again.

It would not be opportune, he said, to declare a Republic until they had the whole of Ireland in on it.

The Irish people, stated the Premier, were determined that this crying evil was going to become known to everybody and the world would be given notice that the Irish people regarded it as a problem that had to be solved.—Reuter.

Possible Franco-German Anti-War Talks

German Foreign Minister May Visit Paris

Paris, Nov. 23.

The newspapers are discussing with mixed feelings the possible visit to Paris of Herr Joachim von Ribbentrop, the German Minister of Foreign Affairs, in the near future.

Some of the journals merely carry rumours that such a visit will follow that of Mr. Neville Chamberlain, the British Prime Minister, and Viscount Halifax, the British Foreign Secretary.

It is the belief that the visit of Herr von Ribbentrop, if it materializes, will be connected with a Franco-German anti-war declaration, which will take the form of a guarantee, in principle, of non-aggression between the two countries, while a project for the guarantee of mutual frontiers will be the object of later negotiations.—Reuter.

Thanksgiving Day Celebrations

Annual Football Classic At Canidrome; Service At Cathedral

Celebrations of Thanksgiving Day which will be observed as a general holiday by the American community today, will include the annual American football classic between the 1st and 2nd Battalions of the Fourth Marines, and the reading of the President Roosevelt's Thanksgiving Day Proclamation by Col. Joseph C. Fegan, Commander of the Fourth Marines.

At 10 a.m. a Thanksgiving Day church service will take place at the Fourth Marines Club for Marines, their families and friends. This will be followed by the reading of the Proclamation at 11 a.m. in Holy Trinity Cathedral. The football game will end the day's celebrations.

As in former years the day will be marked by the closing of all offices in the American Consulate and American schoolchildren also will have a general holiday. A large crowd is expected at the Canidrome at 1.30 p.m. for the football game and all seats will be free.

The Proclamation

The proclamation of President Roosevelt reads as follows:

I, Franklin D. Roosevelt, President of the United States of America, do hereby designate Thursday, the 24th of November, 1938, as a day of general thanksgiving.

Our Fathers set aside such a day as they hewed a nation from the primeval forest. The observance was consecrated when George Washington issued a Thanksgiving Proclamation in the first year of his presidency. Abraham Lincoln set apart "a day of Thanksgiving and praise to our Beneficent Father who dwelleth in the Heavens."

Thus, from our earliest recorded history, Americans have thanked God for their blessings. In our deepest natures, in our very souls, we, like all mankind since the earliest origin of mankind, turn to God in time of trouble and in time of happiness. "In God We Trust."

For the blessings which have been ours during the present year we have ample cause to be thankful.

Our lands have yielded a goodly harvest and the toiler in shop and mill receives a more just return for his labour.

We have cherished and preserved our Democracy. We have lived in peace and understanding with our neighbours and have seen the world escape the impending disaster of a general war.

In the time of our fortune it is fitting that we offer prayers for unfortunate people in other lands who are in dire distress at this, our Thanksgiving season.

Let us remember them in our families and our churches when on the day appointed we offer our thanks to Almighty God. May we by our way of living merit the continuance of His Goodness.

In witness whereof I have hereunto set my hand and caused the Seal of the United States of America to be affixed.

Done at the City of Washington this Nineteenth Day of November in the Year of Our Lord Nineteen Hundred and Thirty Eight, and of the Independence of the United States of America the One Hundred and Sixty Third.

Bluejackets Swim To Sink Mines

Bold Action Reported On Yangtze; Peril to Warships Averted

Tokyo, Nov. 23.

A daring feat of three Japanese bluejackets who swam across the Yangtze River and sank six mines after snapping off their detonator heads was revealed in a field dispatch received last night from a correspondent with the naval forces.

When the mines were sighted Warrant Officer Seishichi Narusawa and two other sailors jumped overboard from a warship, swam to the mines and grasped them in their arms one at a time to remove the caps, then let them sink to the river bottom.

The exploit took place near Lukikow, more than 100 miles up-stream from Hankow on November 11. One mine was observed drifting down the Yangtze close to the Japanese warships; it was so near the vessels that to explode it with rifle fire would have been dangerous.

The three bluejackets thereupon volunteered to lassoo the mine and carry it ashore. They took off the cap, filled the mine with water and sank it. A short time later they saw five more drifting mines. Instead of roping them they proceeded to snap off the cap of each one in the water.

When they swam back to their ship the three sailors modestly made light of their effort. The hardest part of it was swimming in the icy water, they said.—Domei.

Mr. H. M. Skerrett-Rogers, who died recently in Paris at the age of 82, came out to China in 1877, to join the then well-known firm of Russell & Co. at Chaatsze. He left Foochow in 1895 for France and was long in business in Paris.

During the four years of the Great War he served with the American Ambulance units and with the American Red Cross in France. For his World War services he received the Mons 1914 Star, the Overseas Service medal and the Victory medal.

For rescuing a French Consul at Foochow, during a naval bombardment there in the last century, he also wore the cross of the French Legion of Honour. Other French honours were the Reconnaissance Francaise Gold Medal of Honour, Officer of the Academy, and Officer of the order of Nicham Iftekar.

Mr. Henry Skerrett-Rogers, who was the elder son of the late Henry Skerrett-Rogers of Cliff Castle, Dalkey, Co. Dublin, is survived by his wife, Catherine Clifford, and a daughter, Mrs. Wellesley Kipling, well known members of the Paris American colony.

Hearing of Arms Deal Case Adjourned

Corrigan Refused Bail; Resumption on Dec. 1

London, Nov. 23.

The hearing of the arms deal case, resumed in Bow Street Police Court yesterday and in which Dannis Corrigan is charged with the attempted shipment to China of boxes alleged to contain armaments but actually containing only rubbish, has been adjourned until December 1.

James Willing and his father, Frederick Willing, who are charged in the case with having conspired to cheat Mr. Lafitte of £7,250, alleged to have been given them to buy armaments, have been allowed to renew their bail.

A further application for bail for Mr. Corrigan was refused.—Reuter.

Causes of Fatal Mishap Analyzed by S.M.C.

Machinery Had Been Inspected at Shop

A boy of 11 years, named Chang Pei-kwen, was killed and another Chinese, Chou Yung-keng, aged 24, was severely injured when an explosion occurred in an acetylene generator at the Ho Tsung Welding Company, 106 Tszepang Road, last Saturday evening, as reported on Sunday in the "North-China Daily News."

One half of the front part of a shop at the above address was rented in September by the owner, Shen Lin-sen. It was visited by an inspector of the Shanghai Municipal Council's Industrial Section on September 23. It was then found that the water seal, the device by which the oxy-acetylene flame at the end of the nozzle is prevented from flashing back to the generator, was of a faulty type. The owner was given instruction as to the correct type of seal, and on October 4 a second visit was paid when it was found that the seal was satisfactory.

The cause of the explosion was not related to the working condition of the generator. Work had ceased, and the vessel containing carbide had been removed from the generator. The deceased child was playing with a rubber ball, which fell between the float bell and the water container of the generator. The ball was faulty, and probably sank in the water a little, and could not be seen by the child. It is assumed that a match was struck to seek for the ball, since no mechanically produced spark seems feasible. Residual acetylene gas mixed with air caused an explosion, and the boy, being struck by the float bell, was killed instantly The man, Chou Yung-keng, passing by, was seriously injured, it being stated that he will require about three months in hospital.

Nine Months For Jailbreaker

Russian Sentenced for Cable Stealing; Faces Escape Charge Today

Sentence of nine months' imprisonment was passed on Eugene Dolgoff, 3 years old Russian, who was one of two prisoners who escaped from the French Concession jail on Rue Massenet on October 25, at the First Special District Court yesterday by Judge Feng on a charge of having stolen cable belonging to the Japanese Army in Shanghai. At the conclusion of the hearing Dolgoff was handed over to the French Police and he will appear in the Second Special District Court today when a charge of jailbreaking will be heard.

Possessing a long record of previous convictions Dolgoff faced a charge yesterday of having stolen 350 yards of telephone cable from Dalny Road belonging to the Communications Section of the Japanese Army. Also convicted on the same counts were Victor Ivanoff (20), who was sentenced to 14 months' imprisonment, and George Wagen (23), who received a term of nine months' in jail. The latter accused also faced a charge of stealing 137 yards of electric cable from Lane 207, Kunping Road, belonging to the Shanghai Power Company. Both thefts were said to have been perpetrated on November 4.

Leader of Gang

For harbouring the stolen goods, John Gomaniloff (21), 283 Kungping Road, was sent to prison for seven months, while John Zaitzeff (28), alleged to be the leader of a Russian gang of thieves in the Wayside area was found not guilty on a charge of harbouring Dolgoff following the latter's escape from jail.

A set of burglar's tools found in Zaitzeff's room was confiscated and a Chinese named Wan Chiu-ling, owner of a secondhand shop on Peking Road who purchased 137 yards of the stolen cable from Ivanoff and Wagen was fined $100. Mr. Thomas S. Lea prosecuted all the six accused.

Dolgoff who was serving a four year sentence in the French Concession jail effected his escape by digging a hole through the wall of the prison together with Victor Borissenko, who was serving a seven years term for attempted murder.

After the escape both men were arrested by Japanese gendarmes in Soochow but Borissenko jumped off the train and eluded his escort while on the way to Shanghai. On his arrival here, Dolgoff was released and he immediately made his headquarters in the Wayside area where he mixed with other Russian thieves. All the men in court were arrested by Detective Sub-Inspector P. Maklaevsky on November 6 at 283 Kungping Road.

Thanksgiving Day Football Conflict This Afternoon

Kick Off at Canidrome at 1.30 p.m. Expected to Find Big Crowd in Stands for Annual Game

SHANGHAI'S American community will not be denied the privilege, which almost amounts to a necessity, of seeing an American football game on Thanksgiving Day for two rugged teams which have been in rigorous training for weeks are impatiently awaiting 1.30 p.m. today which is the time set for the kick off at the Canidrome. Rivalry is running high between the camps of the First Battalion and the Second Battalion, 4th U.S. Marines, and each team, along with its supporters, is confident of wiping up the field with their opponents.

The annual gridiron game is part of the ritual of Thanksgiving Day, to come after turkey dinner. To add to the occasion this afternoon the traditional atmosphere, the Fourth Marine Band will be out to play college gridiron songs and marches.

Spectators may be assured of something more than just a game to fill the breach, for the two teams include many star players, are evenly balanced and determined to win and the result of the clash must be stirring action of the special type so seldom seen in Shanghai.

During the interval between halves, a special display of six-man football will be made by teams from the Shanghai American School. It is an increasingly popular new form of the game, which is being played more and more in the United States at present, especially in high schools. In this game the Reds (Allman, Walker, Brodwill, Terry, Hale and Brown) will meet the Whites (Thomson, Cox, Weber, Ball, Freeman and Belknap.)

Admission is free of charge and spectators of all nationalities are invited.

Ready for Gridiron War Today

The "beef boys" of the Second Battalion, 4th U.S. Marines, who are to meet their rivals of the First Battalion in the Thanksgiving Day American football game this afternoon at the Canidrome beginning at 1.30 p.m. It will be the one and only American football game of the season as the Marines will turn to rugger immediately after today's traditional contest.

Bowling Leaders Remain Ahead

Mrs. Geibel and Ramsey Again Outscore Rivals In Duckpin Play

Riding the crest of a winning wave, Mrs. Geibel and Bill Ramsey had maintained a safe lead upon completion of the second round's competition in the Mixed Doubles Duck Pin Championship at the Foreign Y.M.C.A. last night. The leaders registered a triple of 669 to pile up a six-game total of 1,380.

Mrs. Geibel started out with a mediocre score of 87 but improve considerably as play proceeded to tally 111 pins in the second game and 123 in the third. Ramsey was in his usual fine mood, getting 108, 123, and 117 in respective order.

A big climb was made by Mrs. Schuster and Leo Hilden, a former champion in duck pins. Hilden amassed a remarkable triple of 370 jumped from tenth position to third. Mrs. Schuster, who is the holder of this season's record of 330 in the Ladies League, began with a fine single of 115 but weakened in the next two frames to score 91 and 90. Hilden's scores were 116, 110, and 144. The team total reads 1,252.

Yugoslavia's Davis Cup Player Wins Again

Kukuljevic Shows Manila First Class Tennis

Manila, Nov. 22.

Amado Sanchez, who is ranked joint No. 1 tennis player of the Philippines with Leonardo Gavia, defeated Robert Mouvet, former junior champion of Belgium, in two straight sets in an exhibition match tonight, 6-3, 6-3.

The Belgian tennis star suffered his second defeat in as many days here, dropping his opening game to Feliciano Ampon, leading college player, yesterday.

Dangerous Threat

All-round athlete with football experience in the United States, Aikman, First Battalion quarterback, is expected to be the man to watch in this afternoon's American football game at the Canidrome.

Franjo Kukuljevic, Yugoslavia's No. 1 player, however, continued to show winning form and trimmed Juan Ladao, 6-2, 6-4, in another exhibition.

The European players had it all their own way in the doubles, repeating their brilliant performance of last night.

Revealing excellent understanding, they outclassed Maximo and Amado Sanchez, 6-1, 6-0. The European stars were superior in all departments, putting over deadly serves and smashing with great force to catch their does flatfooted time and again.

The European tennis players will be seen again here in other exhibition matches on Saturday.—United Press.

Derby Winner Next Year To Receive Trophy

The trainer of the winner will receive a cup worth £50, and the rider a £25 cup.

The next year, 1940, in addition to the owner of the second and third getting their 10 per cent. and 5 per cent. of the stakes the owner of the fourth will get 2½ per cent. In addition to the usual £500 to the breeder of the winner, the breeders of the second and third will receive £250 and £100 respectively.—Reuter.

Apostoli Said Champion By New York A.C.

N.B.A. Still Gives Title To Solly Krieger

New York, Nov. 22.

The New York Athletic Commission announced today that it officially recognizes Freddie Apostoli as the world's middleweight champion.

The official announcement was fully expected since the New York group had earlier declared that the winner of the Apostoli-Corbett clash would be recognized as the world champion.

The official New York recognition, however, does Apostoli little good, for in the eyes of the National Boxing Association Solly Krieger of Brooklyn, recent winner over Al Hostak, is the world champion.

Apostoli defeated Young Corbett III on a technical knockout in the eight round of a planned fifteen-round bout last week.

The San Francisco bell-hop thus avenged a defeat he suffered at the hands of Corbett earlier this year. Apostoli also belted out a T.K.O. over Freddie Steele last January in a non-title bout. Steele later lost the title to Hostak who in turn was knocked out by Krieger. Apostoli has beaten Krieger twice.—United Press.

Fine Outmanoeuvred in Chess Tournament

Euwe Defeats American To Lead at Rotterdam

Rotterdam, Nov. 23.

The 11th round of the Avro chess tournament was played yesterday at Rotterdam. Euwe defeated Fine after the 30th move. Capablanca had to give up against Botwinnik after the 40th move. The games between Keres and Reshevsky as well as Alekhine and Flohr were adjourned.

The score after the 11th round is as follows: Keres leads with 6½ points and one adjourned game followed by Fine 6½ points Botwinnik 6 points and one adjourned game, Alekhine 5 points and one adjourned game. Capablanca 5 points, Reshevsky 4½ points and two adjourned games, Euwe 4½ points and Flohr 3 points and one adjourned game.—Trans-Ocean.

Lojnikoff Favoured To Beat Haines

Speed, Craft of Russian Expected to Overcome Marine's Weight

Brisk advance booking reported by the Auditorium management yesterday pointed to wide interest in the action-programme of boxing bouts to be staged at the Canidrome Gardens tomorrow night, commencing at 9 p.m., with the ten-round main event between Chuck Haines of the Fourth Marines and Peter Lojnikoff, popular Russian lightweight.

The bout is one of a series planned by the Auditorium to decide a successor to Gaspare Allessandri as the lightweight champion of China inasmuch as the Italian title-holder will be departing with the Savoia Grenadiers in a few days.

Public opinion seems to support the chances of game, aggressive Peter Lojnikoff against the somewhat heavier but rather slower Haines, the Russian being a fighter who can and does "take it" in order to get within range to inflict punishment. This will be the first meeting between Haines and Peter Lojnikoff, and neither will lack supporters.

Slack Meets Usefovitch

A good second in public interest is the eight-round semi-final, which features two lesser lights of the boxing world who, nevertheless, must be taken into consideration in any lightweight title series. These are Homer Slack, Marine boxer of the U.S.S. Augusta, and Kolia Usefovitch, North China lightweight champion, both game and willing boxers who definitely hold championship aspirations.

With Basil Onufreichuk meeting hard-hitting Cho Young in the special event, Freddie Leemans of the Fourth Marines tackling Anatole Bavet in a six-rounder and with Private Chezemission of the Russian Regiment down to battle "Slug" Ballinger of the Marines in the other six-round tussle, tomorrow's programme holds promise of more than ordinary action. Rounding it out will be two four-round preliminaries, the initial contest being a return match between the inimitable "Charlie Chase" Collaco and Young George.

Overwhelming Win For English Tourists

Griqualand Defeated by Tremendous Margin

Kimberley, Nov. 23.

The three-day match between the M.C.C. and Griqualand West ended yesterday in an overwhelming win for the tourists, who triumphed by an innings and 289 runs.

This is the third straight victory of the Englishmen in South Africa.

The scores were:

M.C.C.—676 (Hutton 149, Yardley 142, Edrich 109, Paynter 158).

Griqualand West.—114 (Verity seven for 22) and 273.

In Griqualand's second innings Steyn made 65 while Nicholson, who stands a chance of being selected as wicketkeeper for the Tests against England, scored 61 in 187 minutes.

Verity was again the most successful bowler, claiming four wickets for 44.

The match was notable for the big hitting of the Englishmen, who scored no less than 14 sixers.—Reuter.

American Footballer Dies of Broken Back

Tuba City, Ariz., Nov. 22.

Pliny Adams, a football player who suffered a broken back in a grid tussle Sunday, died today after living a day in an "iron lung."

The "iron lung" was rushed by plane across the desert because Adams could not breathe without aid and because there was no respiratory apparatus here.—United Press.

Communists Pledge Support To Gen. Chiang Kai-shek

Present No Time For Party Differences, Says Manifesto; Consolidation of Forces Urged

Chungking, Nov. 23.

A PLEDGE of continued, wholehearted and loyal support of General Chiang Kai-shek and the Kuomintang Government is contained in an important manifesto of the Chinese Communist Party published today in the "Hsin Hua Jih Pao," the official Communist organ here.

The manifesto also contains a promise not to establish secret organizations within the Kuomintang or the Kuomintang army.

Based on a report by Mao Tse-tung, known as the "Chinese Stalin," the sixth plenary session of the Central Executive Committee of the Chinese Communist Party, which recently met at Yennan, in Shensi, adopted resolutions aiming at "prolonged co-operation between the Kuomintang and the Chinese Communist Party."

In the manifesto published today, the Communists also request permission to join the Kuomintang and the San Min Chu Yi youth corps, promising:

1. To submit a list of names of Communists joining the Kuomintang and the youth corps, and

2. That such Communists would not attempt to influence either members of the Kuomintang or the youth corps to join the Chinese Communist Party.

Dictatorship Inopportune

"The present Chinese internal and also the international situation," the manifesto declares, "will not permit a one-party dictatorship or the establishment of a Soviet socialist state in China."

The emergence, however, of a new democratic republic under the San Min Chu Yi, or Three Peoples Principles, is envisaged.

The manifesto points out that under the Min Chuan principle, or people's rights, the Chinese Communist Party and its armed forces, including the Eighth Route Army and the new Fourth Route Army, will politically and in organization maintain their independent character.

The manifesto also expresses confidence in an ultimate Chinese victory.

Consolidation Needed

It declares that, with the Japanese halting their advance and with the scene of hostilities now further away from the sea coast and railway, highway and river communication lines, it is time for the Chinese to consolidate their positions in the south-west, as well as the north-west, provinces and await favourable opportunity for a large-scale counter-offensive, aiming at the complete extermination of Japanese armed forces in China.

The publication of the Communist manifesto is attracting considerable attention here, since it is generally believed that the resolutions are likely to be submitted, for consideration, at the forthcoming plenary session of the Kuomintang Central Executive Committee, which will open here on December 15.—Reuter.

French Gold Flows Back from Abroad

Remarkable Results of New Financial Decrees Win Deputies' Approval

Paris, Nov. 23.

Following the publication of the new decree laws, a notable return of capital has been recorded, declared M. Paul Reynaud, French Finance Minister, in a three-hour address to the Finance Committee of the Chamber yesterday.

Since the beginning of the month, he said, gold worth Frs.1,500,000,000 has been returned and subscriptions to Treasury Bonds totalled about twenty milliard francs compared with eight milliard of only a few weeks ago.

This influx of subscriptions, stated the Finance Minister, has enabled the rate of interest to be lowered.

M. Reynaud declared he was very satisfied with the situation and added that the 1939 budget would be balanced at Frs. 66,500,000,000.—Reuter.

Socialist Motion Lost

Paris, Nov. 22.

By a vote of twenty to eighteen, with five abstentions, the Finance Committee of the Chamber of Deputies today rejected a Socialist motion opposing the recent financial decrees passed by the Government.

The Committee then preceded voted approval by 25 to sixteen, with two abstentions, a Radical Socialist motion supported by the Government and calling for an immediate discussion of the new year's Budget.

Before the vote was taken upon those two motions, the Premier, M. Edouard Daladier, declared that if the ballot would prove unfavourable, he would immediately telephone the British Prime Minister, Mr. Neville Chamberlain, and the British Foreign Secretary, Lord Halifax, to ask them to postpone their visit to Paris, arranged for the next day (today).

It is stated now that he intended in that event to summon the Chamber and Senate for a meeting on Thursday, when he would ask them to vote upon the Government's latest decrees.

It is expected that the Chamber will pronounce itself later upon any eventual changes to be made in these decrees.—Havas.

Strikes Spreading in Southern France

Munition and Metal Workers Scuffle with Civil Guards

Valencienne, Nov. 23.

The Executive of the Metal Workers Union has decided to call a strike today involving 20,000 members.

This decision was reached yesterday after an exciting afternoon when ten platoons of mobile guards were despatched to evacuate the Cail gunworks, where a sit-down strike was in progress.

The workers refused to move for an hour but were then persuaded by their delegate to leave the works. However, they returned later and erected barrages.

After several scuffles, the guards managed to evacuate several hundreds. Later, all the strikers left, on the guards giving an understanding that they would not use force.

Meanwhile, 5,000 iron and steel workers employed in the forges of the Dessauts Fourneaux at Denain, struck in sympathy with the factory strikers and occupied the works.

Mobile guards are preparing to evacuate the lot.—Reuter.

Union Church Tuesday Evening Club

Interesting Talk on Alaska By Dr. F. J. O'Hara

Before an audience gathered under the auspices of Union Church Tuesday Evening Club, Dr. Floyd J. O'Hara, of St. Luke's Hospital, on Tuesday evening gave an interesting talk on life in Alaska, which was illustrated by a series of cinema films taken by himself or under his direction. The lecture was preceded by the usual supper, which was presided over by Mr. F. H. B. Harmon, chairman of the Club, who in a brief speech welcomed Dr. O'Hara.

Dr. O'Hara, who with his wife spent four years from 1927 in Alaska, where at various points he was engaged in medical work, began with a brief geographical description of Alaska, a district, occupying the extreme North-western part of North America and the adjacent islands, bought from Russia in 1865. During his residence in the district Dr. O'Hara travelled considerably, visiting Nome, the centre of the gold rush some years ago, Fort Yukon, Dawson City, and other points, the means of travel being the sledge, toboggan, steamer, and the railway from White Horse to Skagway, which opened in 1900, takes the traveller through very delightful scenery. At one village in the Yukon district Dr. O'Hara was the first white visitor in 15 years.

The population of Alaska, which at one time was given as 60,000, averaging one-tenth of a person per square mile, had in recent years considerably declined, due to the fact that the great inrush of prospectors and miners during the gold rush had ended. Life among the natives was described and illustrated by interesting pictures, and by specimens of native dress collected by the speaker.

Touching missionary work in Alaska, Dr. O'Hara said this was well divided by various denominations. There was little overlapping, and the views of orphanages and hospitals at various centres testified to the fact that some very real humanitarian work is being carried on by workers of various groups.

At the close of his talk a number of questions elucidated some further points, and on the motion of Dr. Coupar Patrick, the lecturer was warmly thanked for a greatly appreciated description of a little-known portion of the world.

150 Die in Landslide In West Indies

Rescuers Work Heroically All Night in St. Lucia

New York, Nov. 23.

Waist-deep in mud and water, rescuers toiled desperately all last night in an attempt to save the hundreds of inhabitants of two hamlets overwhelmed by an avalanche eight miles long in the island of St. Lucia, in the West Indies.

One hundred and fifty persons are now believed to have been killed in the mountain landslide.

The rescuers had hardly recovered the bodies of the 45 dead and 60 injured victims of landslide, when another buried all the dead again as well as some of the injured and several of the rescuers.

A house sheltering fifty labourers was swept into the river. Few escaped.

The disaster occurred on the main road connecting the two sides of the island, and was believed to be due to volcanic action as the steep mountain sides, which are among the most beautiful in the West Indies, did not slip but cracked with a loud roar each time a landslide started.

Hundreds of relatives waited in the pouring rain throughout the night to identify the bodies laid out in rows by the roadside.—Reuter.

It was officially stated that a foreign resident of Copenhagen was the leading figure in the alleged plot.

Several Danish citizens were among those detained.

Further arrests made during the day brought the total to 14, the majority of whom were Germans, according to reports here.

The morning newspapers said that the alleged organization was particularly interested in the movements of officials to and from Soviet Russia.—Reuter.

Dissatisfaction at Japan's Reply

U. S. Textile Industry Suggests Retaliation Against "Closed Door"

Washington, Nov. 22.

Mr. Cordell Hull, Secretary of State, indicated today that he considered Japan's reply to the United States protest against Japan's alleged violations of the "Open Door" policy in China as unsatisfactory.

He said the Japanese answer did not respond to the United States objections outlined in the note sent to Japan on October 6.

Mr. Hull also indicated that the Japanese reply could not be regarded as an answer to the general position which the United States has taken in regard to American rights and interests in every country and not only in China.

The Secretary of State said that he preferred not to comment further on the Japanese reply until he had more time to study the substance of the implications contained in the reply.

Japan, following the reply to America's note, announced yesterday that she will issue a further statement explaining certain portions of the original reply.

Observers said that in this statement Japan hinted at an indirect rejection of the principles of the "Open Door" policy and the Nine-Power Pact.—United Press.

Retaliation Demanded

Providence, Nov. 22.

The removal of Japan from the list of most favoured nations benefitting from reciprocal trade agreements was demanded by the Rhode Island Textile Association, representing ninety per cent. of Rhode Island's textile business, today.

The Association, in a letter to Mr. Cordell Hull, Secretary of State, made this demand because Japan "arrogantly has scrapped the theory of the 'Open Door' in China for American business....

"We do not see a good reason why Japan, while handicapping our export business in the Far East, should be permitted to enjoy the most favoured nation status so that she can dispose of her goods in this country to the disadvantage of American producers.

"We believe her continuation under the most favoured nation clause should be contingent on her reconsideration of the refusal to recognize the 'Open Door.' Perhaps in this way some of the ill effects of the tariff reduction contained in the United Kingdom agreement might be offset."

The Rhode Island Textile Association requested an immediate reply from Mr. Hull.—United Press.

Lester Chinese Hospital's Loss Mentioned in Report

Through the death last week of Mr. Wang I-ding, the Lester Chinese Hospital has lost the oldest Chinese member of the committee, he having served thereon continuously since 1912. "Mr. Wang has been a great friend of the Hospital," states the monthly report for October, "assisting both financially and materially and his passing is a sad loss. Mr. Wang's renowned skill as an artist is perpetuated by the lettering in Chinese of the name of the institution on the outside of the building, the original of the characters having been drawn by Mr. Wang personally."

Statistics for the month revealed that the number of out-patient visits totalled 21,360, and in-patient admissions, 588. There were 8,845 bed days. Attempted suicides again occupied much of the Hospital's time, 40 men and 58 women having been treated after abortive attempts to end their lives.

The number of in-patient operations was 184, and out-patient, 351. Industrial accident cases totalled 32, while there were 609 cases brought in by the Shanghai Municipal Police and 58 by the French Municipal Police.

The births at the Hospital numbered 51, 21,641 prescriptions were dispensed, and 575 radiographs were taken. The total free bed days numbered 4,454 and out-patient visits 2,396.

THE Tungchi National University is making preparations to remove from Papu to Kweilin, Kwangsi province, where classes will begin in the near future, says a report to the "Wen Wei Pao." Dr. Oong Chih-lung, the president, is expected to leave Kweilin for Chungking by 'plane on November 22 in order to confer with Dr. Wang Shih-chieh, Minister of Education.

S. Africa Defence Minister's Status

Commons Assured That Mr. Pirow Not Acting For British Cabinet

London, Nov. 23.

Mr. Oswald Pirow, Minister of Defence for the Union of South Africa, is not authorized to commit His Majesty's Government in any conversations with the German Government.

This statement was made yesterday in the House of Commons by Mr. Malcolm MacDonald, Secretary of State for the Colonies and Dominions, when questioned concerning the Minister's visit to Europe and his presence in Germany.

The object of the recent visit of Mr. Pirow to Britain, he declared, was to discuss with the appropriate authorities of the British Government certain technical aspects of the defence problem of South Africa and, those discussions having taken place and the questions involved having been settled, Mr. Pirow had left for a visit to the Continent but would return to the United Kingdom for a short time before sailing for South Africa.

German Colonial Claims

The answer gave rise to several supplementary questions. Mr. Arthur Henderson, Labour member for the Kingswinford division of Staffordshire, asked "May we take it that Mr. Pirow, when in London, was not authorized by the Government to commit them in any conversations he may have with the German Government in respect of the German colonial claims?"

Mr. Macdonald replied "Yes."

Asked whether among the other objects of the visit one had been to discuss with the British Government the German colonial claims, Mr. Macdonald said: "Naturally when a distinguished statesman from the Dominions comes here we take the opportunity to discuss informally all sorts of international questions. Beyond that and beyond the official purpose of the visit, no significance attaches to it."

Mr. Wedgewood Benn, Labour member for Gorton, Manchester, asked if the House was to understand that neither directly nor indirectly had Mr. Pirow expressed the views of the British Government in Berlin.

Mr. Macdonald replied "That is the position."—Reuter.

Railroads Failure to Enforce Wage Cut

Cleveland, Nov. 22.

The well-known economist, Mr. Leonard P. Ayres, in his monthly business review said that the Railroad Fact Finding Board's ruling against the railroads' demand for a fifteen per cent. wage cut may halt the national business recovery by obstructing the railroads' capital spending programme as well as discouraging investors.

He believed that "recovery can assume a long term basis if private enterprise has faith in prospects for profits."—United Press.

Tuesday's Closing Quotations

Conditions on the Stock Exchange today were quietly easier, apart from home rail issues, which improved. Argentine rails were subject to profit taking. Elsewhere, industrials were patchy.—Reuter.

Tuesday's Closing Quotations

New York, Nov. 22.

Fairly firm conditions were seen in the cotton market early in the session on the strength of Liverpool and Bombay cables and covering by shorts. Later, however, some profit taking and weaker outside markets brought about a reaction, but then the market again rallied and closed fairly firm and active on good buying by the trade and dealers, with quotations ranging from 1 point down to 4 points up from the previous close.

After opening lower due to the weakness of sterling, prices in the rubber market rallied strongly on good trade buying, the firmness of London and some bear covering. Trading during the close was very active and the market closed with quotations ranging from 31 to 33 points up from yesterday.

The strength of the dollar, recurrence of European political uncertainties and the firmness of Liverpool imparted a better tone to the Chicago Grain Pit today. However, despite reports of good exports, trading was kept within a narrow range and final quotations were from 1/8 to 1/4 above yesterday's close.

Berlin Bourse

Berlin, Nov. 22.

The share market was somewhat firmer today although there was no strongly defined tendency. In view of the recent declines in the prices of most shares, bank customers are showing returning interest and a slight demand was in evidence. German Dye Trust gained 3/4, Siemens were two points up and Schuckert rose 1 3/4.

Call money was quoted at 2 1/2 to 2 3/4 per cent.—Trans-Ocean.

New York Stocks

Tuesday's Closing Quotations

New York, Nov. 22.

The weakness of sterling and continued uneasiness over the International political situation influenced a lower opening on the Stock Exchange today. However, as selling petered out and confidence somewhat restored, prices rallied and some of the earlier losses were regained. Business news generally was good which had a bolstering effect, but, because of the uncertainties prevailing over the Europe political situation, operators held aloof and trading was largely of a professional character. The turnover today amounted to 880,000 shares.

B—Bid *—Ex Dividend —Ex Dividend Nov. 17.—Reuter.

Dow-Jones Summary

By Courtesy of Swan, Culbertson & Fritz

Brokerage opinion on the Stock Exchange continued to be mixed, with most traders operating cautiously. Anticipations of heavy Government orders were still a factor of strength for aircrafts. The softness of copper prices abroad, the decline of scrap and fears of a fall in the domestic price of copper brought about selling in coppers. However, business news continues to be favourable, including estimates of retail Christmas sales, which are pointing to a new high in ten years, and favourable year-end dividend actions. Unfavourable factors today included: renewed pressure on sterling and the less favourable international political situation.
